THE SORROW UNIVERSAL.

Throughout the length and the breadth of the land, a suspension of all secular business and a display of the deepest affection and the profoundest sorrow marked the announcement of the President's death on the morning of the 20th. Dispatches and reports from every town and village bring the same accounts. Flags were at half-mast, church bells were tolled, minute guns fired, houses draped in mourning, courts adjourned, schools dismissed and meetings organized for the formal expression of the popular feeling of sympathy and grief over the country's loss.

At Chattanooga, the programme for the festivities of the Army of the Cumberland re-union was suddenly changed to a programme for a general service, led by Rev. Dr. Buchanan, an ex-Confederate Colonel. At Cincinnati the street parade of the Sovereign Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows was given up and the monument was unveiled in sorrow and silence. In Canada, as well as this country, the expression of grief was almost universal. The grand public reception which was to have been given to Sir John A. Macdonald was indefinitely postponed on the receipt of the news of President Garfield's death, with the approval of the Premier and all classes of citizens. Flags were flying at half-mast from the Parliament buildings, and in Montreal, Quebec, St. John, Halifax and elsewhere were expressions of grief and condolence.

A PLEASANT AFFAIR.

CLINTON, S. C. Sept. 21, 1881.

To the Editor of The Morristown Gazette:

Dear Gazette.—Nothing very new has taken place since my arrival here, until this evening. At 7 o'clock, p. m., some of Clinton's most charming belles, and a few of the rougher sex, assembled at the residence of Mrs. B. N. Copeland to witness the rite of matrimony between Mr. D. Little of this place, and Miss Eva M. Moyers, formerly of Morristown, and whom most of our readers remember, (and some, perhaps, very pleasantly.) Everything passed off very pleasantly, and the whole affair was enjoyable from beginning to end. Your humble servant was one of the invited guests and enjoyed himself hugely.

More anon, E. A. M.

Fall is here in earnest and so is Mrs. Lou Flynn with a large and excellent line of fashionable millinery goods. Call and examine and get prices before you make your purchases elsewhere.

COMING BACK TO WINTER.

To the Editor of The Morristown Gazette:

JEFFERSON CITY, MONTANA, Sept. 15th, 1881. I will drop you a few lines to let you know I still survive. Winter has already begun to blow his icy breath upon Montana; we have had several snow storms lately. On the night of the 12th inst. I saw some fine specimens of Aurora Borealis, or northern lights. While hunting "tother day" I nearly ran atop of a large grizzly, and it is hard to say who was the worst scared and surprised, I or the bear; he got away and so did I.

The job I am working on will be completed in about three weeks, and as it will soon be too cold to work out doors and no prospect of indoor employment, I will leave this place by the 10th or 15th of October. You need not send me the Gazette to me at Jefferson, Montana, after you receive this, but I will be glad to receive it and all my correspondence after the 1st of October, at Des Moines, Iowa, where I go to spend a part of the winter.

I will give the GAZETTE an account of my trip after my arrival at that point. Resp'y, &c.

PERSONAL.

Col. Jas. C. Malone, of Nashville, is stopping at the Cain House.

Charlie Baker, of Greeneville, spent last week with relatives in this place.

W. T. Helms, of the Bakersville, N. C., Mountain Voice, is in the city.

We regret to hear that there is nothing encouraging in the condition of Dr. Marion Wilmetts.

Thos. McWhirter, of the Spring City News, was at the Cain House a portion of Sunday evening last.

D. A. Mims, Esq., of Newport, was in the city last Friday en route home from a trip to Knoxville.

An intelligent friend, Dr. J. M. McFerrin, of Whitesburg, made a visit to the city Monday.

W. J. McNutt, F. W. Hamilton and Robt. Dunner, well-known and popular commercial travelers, of Knoxville, were in the city Monday evening.

W. W. Langhorne, Esq., of Newport, was at the Cain House Saturday on his return home from a professional visit to Knoxville.

Mr. Thos. Herndon, of Barbourville, Ky., visited this place last week and spent several days very pleasantly with relatives. He is a nephew of our fellow-citizen, Dr. D. A. Neilson.

The vivacious and fascinating Miss Rose Chapman, of Asheville, N. C., a favorite of our social circles, returned to this place last week from a several months visit to relatives in Virginia, and departed on the Buncombe train Monday for her home.

The vicious and fascinating Miss Rose Chapman, of Asheville, N. C., a favorite of our social circles, returned to this place last week from a several months visit to relatives in Virginia, and departed on the Buncombe train Monday for her home.

The handsomest and most modern styles in all goods at Mrs. Lou Flynn's millinery store.

Remember that a lot of new Fall Goods, consisting of new style Hats, Bonnets, Feathers, Flowers, Ribbons, Neck-wear, &c., will also be closed out. Call and satisfy yourselves before purchasing elsewhere.

MUNICIPAL ELECTION.

The annual municipal election held Saturday last was one of the most exciting and hotly contested that has taken place in the history of our town. The two tickets were the present Board, headed by Mayor—A. H. Gregg.

ALDERMEN—Wm. McFarland, J. D. Miller, E. J. Wells, D. W. C. Davis, C. D. Merritt, Dr. John Howell.

The opposition was:

Mayor—B. F. Mitchell.

ALDERMEN—John Murphy, D. Pence, J. K. Lawless, W. P. Carriger, H. F. Cain, H. Loop, with two or three other independents in the field for Aldermen. The vote was as follows:

For Mayor—A. H. Gregg.....86
B. F. Mitchell.....85
For Aldermen—Wm. McFarland, 123
J. D. Miller.....113
John Murphy.....42
D. Pence.....47
H. Loop.....63
J. K. Lawless.....52
W. P. Carriger.....59
H. F. Cain.....58
E. J. Wells.....96
D. W. C. Davis.....35
C. D. Merritt.....97
John L. Howell.....106
T. D. Craig.....44
L. L. Lane.....26
E. C. Riggs.....6

The result was the re-election of the present Board. These gentlemen during the past year have done good work for the town and the people will expect from them the same efficient management of municipal affairs during the ensuing term.

Ladies, if you wish anything in the line of choice millinery, do not forget that Mrs. Newcomb will sell cheaper than the cheapest, as her stock will be closed out within the next thirty days.

LETTER FROM PROF. WILSON.

NEWS FROM TEXAS BY ONE WHO WILL BE READ WITH INTEREST.

DODD CITY, TEXAS, Sept. 20, '81.

To the Editor of The Morristown Gazette:

Our dearest friends read the GAZETTE. When I begin to write I feel that I am talking to those I love best. It seems strange that we are in Texas; that the hills and valleys of our once mountain home are so far distant, and that we are in the midst of a broad prairie, with nothing in sight but the houses of the city, the broad fields and the deep blue sky, dropping down all around to the ground. Still, it is a fact. We are here amid new scenes, surrounded with old and new friends and associates, and engaged in the same routine of daily duty that has been followed for thirty years.

If a feeling of homesickness occasionally overtakes one, the stern duties of every-day life drives it away, and the current of life moves on, sometimes smooth, sometimes rough. So far, we have seen but little of the rough. Much delicate kindness has been extended to us by former friends and also by those whom we never knew till we met them here.

I know but little of Texas yet. It was necessary to go to work immediately on arrival. I have seen none of the scenery except along the line of railroad from Texarkana to Bonham. I have met quite a number of former friends and acquaintances. Some men are here whom I had not thought of for fifteen or twenty years. Almost all Tennesseans here are doing well. It has been a blessing to them and their children that they came.

Those best known to Morristown people are the Thummonds and Jno. B. Jones. The two Thummonds occupy good standing in their respective professions—Joe as a physician and Preston as a lawyer. Preston is virtually at the head of the free public schools of Fannin county, a very responsible and honorable position. John B. Jones is here respected as he was in Morristown. He is a first-class man. Will M. Smith, son of Rev. W. H. Smith, represents a large hardware house in Sherman. He has visited us twice since we came. I learn from those in position to know, that he is most efficient in his line of business and is going up every day. One-half the people here are from Tennessee, and a large part of that half from East Tennessee.

Many will want to know what I think of Texas. It is not a paradise, but it is a wonderful country—more wonderful than one can imagine until he sees it. Yet there are many elements wanting here, which are highly prized back in the old home. Still, the fact that all persons who have labored constantly and faithfully have succeeded well, is strong evidence that this is a desirable home for many who cannot get up in the world in the old country.

The drought here has been very severe, but no country can stand a drought like this. There is much more corn raised this year than in the best years at home; then the cotton, although only a half crop, will bring near $20 per acre. Every one who will, can get work and get well paid for it. This part of Texas is not the place to come in order to have an easy time. Young men with inferior mental qualifications need not expect to succeed in the professions, in teaching, in business. The physicians, lawyers and teachers who I have met are awake and very wide awake. Only well tried ability will get any one a position in mercantile business. Men who fail to get desirable positions, but are willing to work at anything honorable, can get the work. But work is absolutely necessary to succeed.

Our school opens well. In my next I will give some particulars of the country.

DEATH OF TOM LEACH ON THE CINCINNATI SOUTHERN.

The shocking news of the death of Tom Leach by accident on the Cincinnati Southern railroad last Sunday, was telegraphed to his brother, T. F. Leach, depot agent at this place, Monday morning. Tom had but a few days before met his sudden and untimely death accepted a position as brakeman on the Cincinnati Southern road, having for some time been engaged in that capacity on the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad, and was probably making his second or third trip Sunday, when the train upon which he was traveling approached a covered bridge, and not apprehending danger in time it is supposed, he was struck at the entrance as the cars passed through and knocked off, falling some distance and killing him almost instantly. Tom was born and raised in Morristown and his mother and most of his relatives reside here. The sad intelligence of his death was received by our citizens with a feeling of deep sorrow. He was in the first flush of young manhood, having not yet reached his 19th year, and had been married but about ten months. How true the injunction "All flesh is grass," and that in the "twinkling of an eye" we are called to our everlasting home. To the grief-stricken relatives, especially the aged mother, we tender our unfeigned and heartfelt sympathy. The remains of the deceased arrived here Monday night and will be interred to-day in the Morristown cemetery.

My Good Woman.

Why are you so out of sorts, never able to tell folks that you are well? Ten to one it's all caused in the first place by habitual constipation, which no doubt finally caused deranged kidneys and liver. The sure cure for constipation is the celebrated Kidney-Wort. It is also a specific remedy for all kidney and liver diseases. Thousands are cured by it every month. Try it at once.—Toledo Blade.

"The last butter I got from you," she said to the dealer, "was very strong."

"I know it, madam," was the candid reply, "but I couldn't help it. My neighbor, who has a spite at me, and must have mixed Limburger cheese with his hay."

The Chronicle has information that two of the parties engaged in rescuing Wm. Holt from the possession of U. S. Deputy Marshal G. T. Larkin, in Colorado, some weeks since, have been captured and in default of bail, are in jail. Hot pursuit is being made for Holt and it is believed that he will be captured.

An assuring evidence of the settled belief of all men in the future of the United States, is the fact, notwithstanding the suspense and anxiety of the last two months, on the day of the announcement of the President's death in London as well as in New York American securities instead of sinking actually rose in price.

Mr. M. B. Brown sends to the Clarksville Chronicle, this recipe, which he says is a sovereign remedy for the flux: Take one gill of good brandy, one tablespoonful of spirits of turpentine, put as much loaf sugar in it as it will dissolve, burn it well; when cold put in one teaspoonful of laudanum, mix well, and give in desert spoonful doses every hour until relieved.

A VISIT TO GUTEAU.

Warden Crocker visited Guteau in his cell this morning, and gives the following account of the interview: "When I entered the cell, after the usual morning greeting, Guteau's question to me was, 'How is the President?' I replied that I did not know. I answered thus to find out if he had gained any knowledge of the President's death. Guteau replied, 'You ought to know. Have you not read the morning papers?' I said that I had, but could not rely on the various statements in the papers. He then said he had felt very anxious about the President for the past few days, and he feared he was nearing his end. I then informed him, watching his expression carefully, that the President had died. He instantly sank down on his bed and appeared very much agitated. After remaining in this position for a few moments, he arose and paced the floor, muttering something to himself as if praying. He then inquired at what time he died, and after being informed, said that he was glad that the President had at last been relieved from his sufferings, as he would not have committed the deed if he had known he was to suffer as he did. Guteau did not appear so nervous and alarmed as I supposed he would when the news was broken to him, and I do not think he knew that the President was dead until I informed him. At least he said he did not. He does not manifest any increased fear this morning, but he has been in constant dread all along that he would be dealt with by a mob, and earnestly prays we will protect him."
